November Bulletin

Goodbye Iguanas !

Bristol Lakes has hired Redline Iguana removal to reduce our population of Iguanas. They will start November 7th, and will work on our 2 lakes to start. They can be identified by white long sleeve shirts. They plan to catch, trap, snare, or shoot them. If they are going to shoot they will wear a yellow vest and have the Sheriff's approval. Expect them every day for a week. If you have seen an Iguana please send in a note to our web site [bristol lakes.com](http://bristol lakes.com) mentioning the house number where spotted. We will advise the trappers.

Volunteers Needed

We need a team to help us with the flag. Stu Landau has been volunteering in honoring the Half staff directions we get from many sources, Stu is unable to do it at this time. Bristol Lakes wants to honor all those who have earned the right to have the flag flown at half staff. If you or your neighbors could form a team it would be of great help to our community. Contact Ed Fennell at edfennell@aol.com for more information.

Aberdeen Phone Directory

It is that time again to send Bristol Lakes data to the Phone Directory Committee. Bristol Lakes is asking that you go to our web site and send us your information. If we do not receive this information we will need to e-mail you. Please make our job easier than mailing 165 individual requests. We will be e-mailing each of you who have not sent your information in . All data must be submitted by November 29.

Who is FCC Environmental?

FCC has signed ten contracts in Texas and three in Florida in the last few years, totaling more than 1.1 billion dollars, and is currently providing services for more than 8 million Americans. The FCC Group is a world leader in citizen services. The Environmental business area of the company has been providing municipal services for more than 100 years and has based its success on a commitment to innovation and helping cities to be smarter, more sustainable and more socially responsible. It currently serves nearly 60 million people in almost 5,000 municipalities in thirteen countries, with a network of more than 200 recovery and recycling plants that process 24.5 million tons of waste per year .
